

The beginnings of all things are small.